

11/6/62 - 4:17 p.m. -- Director McCone called Mr. Hilsman

When I came on phone conversation had already started.

Mr. McCone mentioned a paper which had been worked up.

Mr. Hilsman said that he thought it was fine.

Mr. McCone replied that he thought it was fine as far as it went.

OFF THE PHONE.

Mr. McCone was saying--I think this is what we have to face up to. This is what really troubles me.

Mr. Hilsman: We are just distributing a little paper we have prepared which shows that we have been thinking along the same lines.

Mr. McCone:.....We can't have inspection unless they inspect us is what they are saying. This was never anticipated. They built these surface-to-air missiles for the sole purpose of shielding and now they are leaving them there for the purpose of shielding other things.

Mr. Hilsman: Exactly.

Mr. McCone: This troubles me.

Mr. Hilsman: This is exactly the point we are making in this paper.

There is a double play here.

Mr. McCone: I am terribly disturbed about it. Hope you can keep pressing on it. Keep after that boss of yours.

Mr. Hilsman: OK.
